

Substantial Evidence of Health Harm

There is Emerging and Historical “Substantial Evidence” of Health Harm from Wireless Radiation.

Please see the results of the recent:

1. US National Toxicology Program’s 10-year study on cell phones and cancer
2. Ramazzini Institute’s study on long term exposure to low level microwave radiation
3. Dr. Li’s prospective study at Kaiser on increased miscarriage with exposure to electromagnetic fields.

This research adds to the growing body of science on broad adverse health and environmental effects from non-thermal levels of radiation from wireless devices as well as cell towers.

The Bioinitiative Report has been updated and has an abundance of scientific research on RF-EMR which has been summarized and is easy to understand.
